

Listen Listen
Live! Live!
to HPR-1 to HPR-2

Donate Now
Where To Listen

- Home
- Programs
- News
- Talk Shows
- HPR Events
- Community Calendar
- Support
- About Us
- Contact

Hawaii Consumers Due Payment from Electronics Lawsuit

ShareThis

If you put some money into electronics a few years ago, you'll want to listen to this. You could be eligible for some money. Ten major electronics firms are settling a $1.1 billion class action lawsuit. The companies include Epson, Samsung and Toshiba. Hawaii consumers who bought flat screen TV's, computer monitors or laptops with LCD screens between 1999 and 2006 are eligible to file a claim.

Honolulu lawyer Steven Hisaka represented Hawaii in the national lawsuit and suspects that as many as 100,000 Hawaii consumers may be due for a payment.

The deadline to submit a claim is tomorrow, Thursday December 6th. To file online, go to www.lcdclass.com

Full audio available here:

(Molly Solomon / HPR News)

Search this site:

Updated 4/23 12:35

Total:	$998,000
Pre-Drive
Contributions:	$254,388
Raised:	$814,025
To go:	$183,975

Make your Contribution
Today

Now playing on HPR-1

Performance Today

12:00 PM-2:00 PM

Up Next: Exploring Music with Bill McGlaughlin

HPR holds a 4-star rating from Charity Navigator. It's our third consecutive designation. Read more

